Robert Hogan Passed Away on Saturday Evening

Had Been Ill Five Weeks;
Returned From Calgary Hospital A Few Hours Before Death.

The death occurred at his home here of Robert Shedd Hogan, 54 years, ten months, on Saturday evening a few hours after he had returned from a Calgary hospital.

Deceased had been ill only five weeks and had been a patient in the local hospital two weeks before being taken to a Calgary hospital where he was a patient for five days. On Saturday relatives journeyed to Calgary and brought him home that evening at 8.30 o'clock, death coming at approximately midnight.

Born in Pennsylvania he came to Coleman in 1905 where he received employment. In 1926 he married here. Prior to his illness he was an employee of McGillivray Creek.

Surviving are his wife and two young children; four sisters, Mrs. H. Antle of Coleman, Mrs. Fraser McLeod of Calgary, Mrs. F. Deitchler of Seattle and Mrs. J. Larrigan, of Evansburgh, Wash. Also three brothers, William and Edwin, of Coleman, and George, of Ladysmith.

The funeral was held from the family residence on Wednesday, with services at the United Church. Interment was in the local Union Cemetery.

Palbearers were J. H. Boulton, A. Gentile, J. A. McDonald, W. Mullen, C. Petrie and M. McGrath.

Mass Meeting Held At Bellevue On May Day

Asks Federal Government to Lift Ban Against Canadian Communist Party And Use Its Influence Towards Opening
Second Front

A mass meeting of Pass miners was held at Bellevue on Saturday, May 1. The miners gathered at the front of the Bellevue Inn and marched to the football field where a meeting was presided over by Mayor Enoch Williams of Blairmore. Speakers were Margaret Mills, of Edmonton and organizer of the Communist and Labor Movement for total war; Ed Boyd, of Vancouver, and Board member of District 18, U.M.W.A.; Wm. Irvine, C.C.F. provincial organizer from Edmonton, and Tom Uphill, M.L.A. from Fernie.

Two resolutions were passed and are to be forwarded to the Federal government. The first one called for the lifting of the ban against the Communist party in Canada. The second asked the Federal government to use its influence towards having a second front opened on the European continent immediately.

Margaret Mills called upon the workers to form a united front, the Federal government to lift the ban against the Canadian Communist party and to use its influence towards opening a second front in Europe immediately.

Ed. Boyd criticized the rationing of butter and meat. He asked the Federal government to declare a labor policy as its present policy was anti-labor.

Wm. Irvine asked his listeners to remain solid behind the war effort and to unite behind a common political front in order to maintain their liberties and privileges after the war.

Tom Uphill criticized the rationing of beer. Beer, he stated was necessary to the miner, the coke oven worker and the blast furnace worker as milk was for children. He made a strong plea to the miners to keep producing as much coal as possible and asked them to support the Fourth Victory Loan to the best of their financial ability. No sacrifices, he said, had been made here in comparison to those made in Britain and Russia.

Boil All Drinking Water

Owing to unfavorable contamination in the local water supply, water consumers are advised to boil all drinking water until further notice.

PEOPLE OF COLEMAN ... about this matter of VICTORY BONDS We're Not Doing Our Share

THE sale of Victory Bonds in this community since the opening of the Fourth Victory Loan has not been encouraging.

We are not buying the new Victory Bonds in anything like the way we should be buying them.

A quota was set up for this community-- and from present indications we will not meet that quota.

The quota is a modest one, too--an amount that should be easy to meet--a quota that can be met without inconvenience to any if each one does what he should do.

As a matter of fact, there should be no quotas in connection with the sale of Victory Bonds. The war is a matter of life and death. We haven't won the war yet. If we give the matter proper thought each one of us will buy Victory Bonds with all our available cash--and as much more--on the instalment plan--as we can pay for in the next six months. And we will scrimp to save to do this.

COME ON---PEOPLE OF COLEMAN LET'S DO MORE THAN "OUR SHARE"

Squadron Leader Foss Boulton Subscribes to Victory Loan

Local Victory Loan officials looked on with pride Wednesday afternoon as Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Boulton, on behalf of their famous son Squadron Leader Foss Boulton, wrote out a cheque for the purchase of a $500 Victory Bond.

Foss is not content to risk his life daily in fights with the enemy but also desires to help finance the steady flow of war material from Canada to help equip himself and comrades in planes, bullets and cannon. He does not seek excuses to evade helping the Canadian war effort; he sets an example for others to follow.

Mr. and Mrs. Boulton were photographed purchasing the bond in their son's name and the picture will be featured in every daily paper and many weeklies in western Canada.

Victory Loan Collections Total $41,000

An All Out Attempt to be Made This Coming Week to Reach Quota

Collections in the Fourth Victory Loan totalled $41,000 at the end of Wednesday canvass. In order to reach the $125,000 quota there remains still $74,000 to be collected. It will be the endeavor of every canvasser to get that $74,000 and with the aid of every wage earner the feat can be accomplished.

A number of local citizens who can actually afford to buy bonds and some who can purchase in greater amounts than they are doing seriously threaten Coleman's chances of reaching the $125,000 quota.

No matter where a canvasser goes he is confronted with the argument of heavy income tax deductions. As if that was not enough others complain of rationing in butter, sugar, beer and the forthcoming meat rationing. Granted tax deductions are heavy and in the case of a single man they are very heavy, but what almost all overlook is the fact that part of those deductions are compulsory savings and will some day be returned to them. In the near future the Federal government will issue receipts showing tax paid and money saved by each wage earner from deductions.

It is disheartening to a canvasser to solicit a person knowing full well that the latter could buy if he wished but hears various alibis about deductions, rationing, being on company shift and a host of other excuses when he could buy several hundred dollars and in some cases several thousands if he cared to.

Those people really do not know that there is a war on. They refuse to sit down and think for themselves of the urgent need of money with which to equip the boys who fight for freedom for all. All they can see is that if they buy bonds that loose money which they may have under the mattress or in the bank is gone and all they have in its stead is a piece of paper. The fact that the value of that piece of paper is backed by all the resources of the Dominion means nothing to them.

They, being miles from the theatres of war, can't visualize bombs dropping from the skies murdering and maiming little children for life. It is doubtful if some get a daily paper to keep in contact with the war's progress.

Can't they realize that the war is responsible for them getting steady work and half decent pay cheques?

The messages of our leaders are not reaching these people

War-time Adjustments

TO THE AVERAGE CIVILIAN in Canada, it often appears that life under wartime conditions is becoming increasingly complex. The farmer faces many problems arising from the shortage of labour, scarcity of new equipment, and marketing difficulties. In most urban centres there exist acute housing shortages. Citizens find that troop trains, and shipments of war materials hold priorities on our railroads, and rationing and the income tax might also be added to this list of inconveniences. Canadians at home bear all this cheerfully, as their part in the winning of the war, but it would be well for us to consider occasionally the effort that many of our business institutions are making to simplify some of these wartime complexities. It is well known that the railways are doing magnificent work in giving full support to the war effort, and at the same time curtailing their regular service as little as possible. In the same way, the Canadian banks are doing much to assist in solving the problems of wartime restrictions in business.

Dealers Helped By New System

In this connection it is interesting to consider the newly organized service of the banks in collecting and checking ration coupons. On March 1, of this year, a system of "ration banking" was inaugurated which will mean a great saving in time and labour to dealers in rationed goods, and to large institutions who handle quantities of ration cards. Since the new system does not affect the consumer in any way, the details of the plan will not be of great general interest. Consumers will continue to give their coupons to their retailers when purchasing rationed goods. However, dealers whose monthly gross sales of rationed goods exceed $5,000, and others who handle large numbers of coupons, may now open "ration accounts" at their banks. In these accounts they may deposit the coupons they take in, and receive for them, vouchers which will be negotiable for renewing their supplies of rationed foods.

Review Is Given In Bank Report

In a recent report issued by the Royal Bank of Canada, a review of this new plan is given. It is pointed out that this method is now used in Great Britain and in the United States, and that it is generally agreed that the banks are particularly fitted to undertake this service. Something of the magnitude of the work which rationing involves, and of the way in which the banks are helping to simplify it, is contained in the following paragraph from the report: "It is estimated that butter rationing alone involves the use by Canadian consumers of approximately ten million coupons a week. When it is remembered that this is not the only commodity rationed, and that each coupon had to be transferred three or four times in the process of controlling trade at various levels, the magnitude of the problem becomes clear. The checking and rechecking of the individual coupons at every stage, and the actual handling of millions of small pieces of paper had become an additional burden upon the available manpower of the country." In assisting to cut down the work of business concerns in this manner, the banks are rendering an important wartime service.

Crown Is Liable

For Accidents Caused By Negligence Of Army Car Drivers

Defence Minister Ralston tabled two orders-in-council in the House of Commons which make the legal position of members of the armed forces riding in cars as passengers or driving cars in pursuit of their duties the same as that of civilians.

One provides that a civilian injured by the negligence of a member of the forces acting in the course of the latter's duty may recover damages from the crown if the finding of negligence is made before June 13, 1943.

The order recalls the recent exchequer court judgment which held that members of the forces driving vehicles are not "officers or servants of the crown" within the meaning of section 19 of the Exchequer Court Act which would make the crown liable for damages resulting from their negligence.

The other order does away with the government's right to claim compensation for the death or injury of a member of the forces riding as a passenger in an automobile against the owner or driver.

READING ENGLISH BOOKS

With the local Turkish authorities participating, an English lending library organized by the British Council was recently inaugurated at Istanbul. This library and another at Ankara are already equipped between them with 5,000 volumes provided by the British Council. They are mostly technical books which are said to be much in demand in Turkey.

His Great Hope

General Montgomery Wants To Meet Rommel As A Prisoner

Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery hopes to meet Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel—"as a prisoner"—and probably will follow up his capture by being in the forefront of any European invasion, Lady Montgomery, the British general's mother, said.

Lady Montgomery was interviewed at her home, an old fashioned Georgian mansion on the shores of Lough Foyle, county Donegal, where she spoke proudly of her famous son, whose pictures, along with those of his four brothers, adorn the walls.

"I read the newspapers anxiously every day," she said. "I look for the news of the deeds of my gallant Eighth Army. He writes me often from the desert and I know his great ambition is to meet Rommel as a prisoner."

"Bernard loves the army. From the time he was a small boy he wanted to be a soldier. He is hard as nails but very religious—which is understandable since his father was a bishop."

Lady Montgomery's sons are scattered over the world. Besides the general in North Africa, there is an army chaplain in Durban, another is manpower director on Kenya, another a lawyer in Vancouver and the youngest, Col. Brian Montgomery is in India.

The Montgomery family have been landlords in Elire since the middle of the 18th century.

SMILE AWHILE

British bombers were over Berlin, the sirens were screaming and people were racing for the shelters. "Hurry up!" cried the housewife to her spouse.

"I can't find my false teeth," called the befuddled and tardy husband.

"False teeth?" returned theasperated wife. "What do you think they're dropping? Sandwiches?"

Sunday School Teacher: "Why must we be kind to the poor?"

Pupil: "Because you never can tell, some of them might get rich."

Mister (exuberantly): "A man is never older than he feels. Now this morning I feel as fresh as a two-year-old."

Missus (sweetly) — "Horse or egg?"

"I'm afraid we can't use your poem," said the editor.

"What is wrong with it?" asked the poet. "Is it too long?"

"Yes," said the editor. "Too long, and too wide, and too thick."

"Look here, Mrs. Murphy, who have you been hitting my little Bobby?"

"I only hit him because he was rude and called me a fat old pig."

"But good gracious Mrs. Murphy, you ought to know better than that. Hitting my son won't do you any good; you'll have to start dieting!"

Said little Bertie: "Daddy and Mummy are always finding fault with me, and between the two I'm never doing anything right."

"How's that?" asked his chum.

"Mummy won't let me stand on my head, and Daddy fusses because I wear out my shoes so fast."

Co-operation Needed

If Losses From Forest Fires Are To Be Kept Down

Fewer forest visitors meant fewer fires last year, but fewer men to fight outbreaks meant heavier losses when blazes did start, the resources department said in appealing for public co-operation in keeping down fire losses this year.

Last year's forest fire damage and costs of fighting fires were estimated at $3,550,151 against an average of $3,378,122 for the past 10 years.

The area burned over was 1,838,471 acres against a 10-year average of 2,428,659.

"The number of fires was less than the average for the previous decade in all provinces," said the department.

"However, in spite of the reduced number of fires, British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Nova Scotia reported record losses and the cost of damage to be very considerable above normal. This may be explained as the result of a reduction in skilled staff and a shortage of manpower for fire-fighting due to the war effort."

Car Batteries

Storage Batteries Have Long Life When Given Care

Many automobile owners are prone to neglect their car batteries. For this reason the question of "care" should always receive consideration.

Consumer Information Service says that if reasonable care is given a storage battery, its life will be in proportion to its use. On the other hand, neglect invariably shortens battery life, and frequently is the cause of premature failures.

Under the limited driving conditions of today, all car owners should have their car batteries thoroughly checked every two weeks. The service station attendant should take a definite reading of the specific gravity and record it. Any indication of gradual discharge should immediately suggest to the car owner that the battery be removed for a thorough recharge.

A check should be made of the electrical system of the car to determine whether the charging rate is sufficient to maintain a constant state of full charge under the driving conditions of the individual owner.

I STOPPED "DOSING" MY CONSTIPATION AND CORRECTED THE CAUSE!

● In these busy days of war you owe it to your country—as well as to yourself—to keep "in the pink." That's why it's so important to avoid the common type of constipation caused by lack of "bulk" in the diet. And do it by getting right at the cause instead of "dosing" with harsh purgatives that give only temporary relief. Just follow this simple plan. Eat

KELOGG'S ALL-BRAN every day! It's delicious as a cereal or hot, easy muffins. Drink plenty of water. Then see if you don't agree ALL-BRAN is the "better way" to natural regularity. But remember, eat ALL-BRAN every day!

THE CANADIAN ARMY MEDICAL CORPS DID MARVELOUS WORK FOR MEN WOUNDED AT DIEPPE

London. — Facts and figures on treatment of Canadians wounded at Dieppe, given in an article in Lancet, official journal of the British Medical Association, show that the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps did superb work both during the raid and later at base hospitals in England.

Only 15 out of 600 Canadian casualties, brought back from France and admitted to five Canadian army base hospitals, died. Seven of these cases were admitted when close to death and could not be saved and eight died after operations. Ninety-three cases were discharged during the first week after the raid and 82 at the end of the second week.

The article, written by Col. J. A. MacFarlane, of Toronto, consulting surgeon, Canadian military headquarters, London, is a detailed survey of the medical side of the operation.

"The casualties presented peculiar difficulties of organization, evacuation and treatment," he says. "It was never possible to establish ambulance collecting posts on the beaches. Medical officers accompanied battalion formations and did admirable work throughout the morning in giving first-aid and directing the evacuation of wounded to points on the beach."

"From this point they were put aboard tank-landing or other small craft. During this evacuation, they were under vicious cross-fire from enemy machine-guns, rifles and mortars. During the operations on shore there was little time to carry out more than casual first-aid, and indeed many men were wounded while crossing the strip between the break-water and the beach itself."

Col. MacFarlane mentions use of the comparatively new "sulfa-drug." He says that in 92 per cent. of cases some type of "sulfa" drugs were used at the time of operation.

"Sulfanilamide was the most generally used drug as a local application while sulapyridine and sulfathiazole were the common drugs given by mouth."

EXPORT BUSINESS OF CANADA GIVES HER THIRD PLACE IN TRADING NATIONS OF WORLD

Vancouver.—Canada now is doing the greatest export business in its history and the Dominion's export position is "little short of incredible," Hon. J. A. MacKinnon, minister of trade and commerce, said here.

Speaking at the annual meeting of the British Columbia division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, Mr. MacKinnon said 1942 exports left all previous records far behind and this new high level of export business is being carried forward during the present year.

Mr. MacKinnon said Canada now is the third largest trading nation in the world and he emphasized the country's postwar welfare depends to an important extent on ability to find world markets for its products.

Referring to Britain's Beveridge plan and Canada's Marsh plan, the minister asserted "all these programs of social security, when it is possible to fully proceed with them, will never prosper within a country if markets for its goods abroad are shrinking."

Mr. MacKinnon said the great potential markets for Canada's post-war export business are China, the Caribbean countries and Central and South America.

Referring to proper foundations for postwar trade, Mr. MacKinnon reported that in some parts of South America he heard complaints that Canadian firms refused to send samples of their goods and were not particularly prompt in handling correspondence dealing with trade possibilities.

On the other hand, he continued, he found in the same countries that Canadian goods enjoyed a reputation of being high standard and of excellent quality.

He said that a great fleet of steel cargo ships is being built on the west coast for war duty and the extent to which those ships can be used by Canada in postwar trading and how the ships can best be distributed and operated is something on which great thought is necessary but the whole question is being given most careful consideration.

LATEST PROJECT

J. H. Mitchell, of Dahnada, Working On Cold-Resistant Oats Regina.—A new variety of oats that will be cold-resistant, is the latest project of J. C. Mitchell, Dahnada, four times wheat king of the world, and seven times holder of the Saskatchewan record for best wheat.

Mr. Mitchell stated he was trying to create a strain of oats which could be seeded in August to catch enough growth before the winter set in. Sown in stubble, the oats would be protected by the snow, and the roots would not die out, believed Mr. Mitchell. Similar to rye, it would be the first thing to sprout in the spring.

Success of this experiment and creation of an export market is Mr. Mitchell's aim. Failing this, he considers that a pure seed, by intensive selection could be sown at the same time as, or even before wheat, and thus mature in July and miss the worst onslaught of the grasshoppers. This method would possibly create an export market, and thus relieve the wheat acreage overproduction problem, to some extent. More coarse grains and flax will be grown this year in the west, believes Mr. Mitchell.

NEED MORE HELP

Plants in Edmonton Unable To Cope With Egg Shipments

Edmonton.—Storage and handling facilities are not able to cope with the flood of fresh eggs pouring into Edmonton to the special products board for drying for export to Britain. A. F. Darnell, senior Dominion poultry products inspector, said.

Work of breaking the eggs into melange for storage is also handicapped by lack of labor, he said. Twenty more girls and eight men were needed at once. There are three plants now breaking eggs.

Daily receipts have averaged 1,300 cases of eggs while the drying plant here only had a capacity of 500 cases in 22 hours of operation daily.

Praising wartime services of Canada's merchant marine, he said there are more than 38,000 merchant seamen serving on vessels of Canadian registry and that 642 of these men have been lost at sea through enemy action.

Referring to British Columbia's wartime industries, Mr. MacKinnon remarked "there might have been a wider distribution of Canadian war production but that is another story."

Referring to proper foundations for postwar trade, Mr. MacKinnon reported that in some parts of South America he heard complaints that Canadian firms refused to send samples of their goods and were not particularly prompt in handling correspondence dealing with trade possibilities.

On the other hand, he continued, he found in the same countries that Canadian goods enjoyed a reputation of being high standard and of excellent quality.

Message To Employees

W. M. Neal, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, speaking from his office in Windsor station, Montreal, to the company's 73,000 employees Thursday afternoon, April 22, in the interests of the fourth Victory Loan for which Canadian Pacific officers and employees have an objective of $5,300,000 of the $1,100,000,000 expected from all Canada. The message which came over the most extensive private broadcast hook-up in the history of Canadian communications, was heard by employees from Sydney to Victoria and from Labrador to the Yukon in the drive to surpass company personnel's contribution in the three previous loans when $10,203,500 was pledged. In the frames on his desk are Mr. Neal's daughter and son, Nursing Sister Betty Neal and Sgt. Pilot Jack Neal, both of them overseas on active service.

NEW PLANS FOR PROTECTION OF NORTH ATLANTIC CONVOY ROUTES HAVE BEEN ANNOUNCED

Ottawa. — A streamlined, mile-by-mile protection of the north Atlantic convoy route to the United Kingdom was announced, with Canada and Great Britain sharing the responsibility.

A joint statement by Navy Minister Macdonald and Air Minister Power outlined new convoy plans by which the Canadian and British navies, with air co-operation, propose to protect "every mile of the route from North America to Europe."

With this new attack upon the U-boat problem left entirely in the hands of the two empire forces the United States, while co-operating with ships and aircraft, will retain "strategic responsibility" for the western Atlantic, including escort operations for non-British convoys.

This was taken to mean that while the trade convoy route across the north Atlantic would be a joint Canadian-British responsibility, the United States would direct any strategic operations necessitated by enemy naval thrusts in the western Atlantic and by local American convoys.

Outcome of a recent conference in Washington between British, Canadian and American naval and air authorities, the new anti-submarine plan includes the following features:

1. Canada and Great Britain have assumed complete charge of trade convoys from northwest Atlantic ports to the United Kingdom.

2. The United States retains "strategic responsibility" for the western Atlantic "including escort operations not related to British convoys and local Canadian traffic."

3. Rear Admiral L. W. Murray, R.C.N., commanding officer, Atlantic fleet for the navy since September, 1942, has been appointed commander-in-chief, Canadian Northwest Atlantic—abbreviated "C-in-C, C.N.A."

4. Air Vice-Marshal George Johnson, air officer commanding-in-chief of eastern air command, will direct anti-submarine operations of new, long-range Canadian and American machines patrolling to mid-Atlantic.

5. British bombers will take over in mid-Atlantic, thus establishing an air "umbrella" over the entire Atlantic.

tic route, co-operating with naval escorts.

6. A single naval control, like that exercised by Rear Admiral Murray, will be operated by the Royal Navy, with air co-operation, covering the western approaches to Europe. Canadian naval units, which have already carried a large share of the Atlantic escort burden, will have little change in their duties but their efforts will be more efficiently applied and there are more of them available now for this work.

United States escort vessels will continue to share in the task, under direction of Rear Admiral Murray, and United States air units stationed in Newfoundland will continue to carry on their anti-submarine tasks under direction of Air Vice-Marshal Johnson.

INDIANS RELEASED

London.—A despatch from New Delhi said 18 Indian Nationalists held under defence of India regulations have been released. They were freed as the result of a recent federal court ruling that a section of the regulations was invalid.

INCREASE IN BENEFIT SCALE FOR EX-SOLDIERS ANNOUNCED BY THE MINISTER OF PENSIONS

Toronto.—Substantial increase in the scale of post-discharge benefits to members of the armed forces pending re-establishment and improvement of men suffering from disabilities were announced by Pensions Minister Mackenzie speaking before the Toronto Business Men's branch of the Canadian Legion.

The scale of benefits has been raised from $9 a week for a single man and $13 for a married man to $10.20 a week for a single man and $14.40 for a married man. In addition allowances for children on the same scale as the dependents' allowances paid during service are authorized, together with an allowance for a dependent parent.

The minister announced three orders-in-council affecting men discharged from the forces were passed. They were:

1. An amendment to the post-discharge order increasing benefits and making some other changes.

2. Amendments to treatment regulations to provide complete treatment of non-pensionable disabilities and higher cash allowances plus allowances for dependents of men undergoing treatment after discharge.

3. An amendment to the War Veterans' Allowance Act to do away with deductions from allowances because of casual earnings.

Mr. Mackenzie also announced a plan for creating special reconditioning centres for problem cases, men who believe they are suffering from some physical defect but who are not pensionable and still not able to earn a living.

Under the revised post-discharge order a single man may receive $44.20 a month while he is engaged in vocational training, completing his education or setting himself up in some private enterprise where earnings are slow in materializing, such as farming or a small business. The benefits available to married men start with $22.40 a month for a man without children and range up to $120.40 a month for a man with a wife and six children.

Men with dependent parents may receive $15 a month in addition to the allowances payable on account of their own status.

Formerly post-discharge allowances were cut down to the extent of the pensions received by a disabled man.

"We shall not hereafter deduct from any vocational training grant awarded to a disability pensioner, the full amount of his pension," said Mr. Mackenzie.

"In the case of an unmarried pensioner whose disability is assessed at less than 15 per cent., his pension will be completely ignored in awarding vocational training benefit. That is, he will receive his pension and the full allowance."

"In the case of a single man whose disability pension ranges from 15 per cent. to 55 per cent., we shall pay the amount of the vocational allowance necessary to bring his income up to $55 a month instead of $44.20."

"In the case of a married man in receipt of both vocational training allowance and pension up to 55 per cent., we shall allow him to receive up to $75 per month before taking cognizance of the pension although the normal rate of benefit under the post-discharge order would be a maximum of $62.40."

Where there are children a married pensioner's $75 will be augmented by children's allowances.

Where a pension is for more than a 55 per cent. disability the man will receive his normal rate of pension plus a post-discharge grant to the extent of 25 per cent. of his pension.

(Children's allowances in all cases are $12 a month for two children, $10 for a third and $8 for a fourth, fifth and sixth.)

HONESTY, PLUS!

In the Cardston News a story is told of a citizen picking up a hanky on the post-office steps and finding a 25-cent piece tied in the corner. The finder gave it to the postmaster who made unsuccessful efforts to find the owner. The finder took the 25c piece and tried a spin on the Victory Loan wheel in Cardston and won a $5 war savings certificate. Renewed efforts are now being made to find the owner of the hanky who is also the winner of a $5 certificate.

Foss Boulton Shoots Down Two More Nazis

Now Has Shot Down Five Enemy Planes; Nazi Resistance Over Continent Stiffening.

LONDON.—The R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. made two extensive sweeps over Northern France and Holland on Monday at a cost of 11 bombers and two fighters missing, the heaviest loss in recent daylight raids.

Among the targets attacked was the power station at IJmuiden, Holland, on which bombs were seen to burst, an air ministry communiqué said tonight.

The attack force encountered enemy fighters in considerable numbers. Five were shot down, two by Sqdn. Ldr. F. H. Boulton of Coleman, Alta, and Flt. Lt. R. A. Buchanan of Vancouver, B.C., members of the R.C.A.F. "City of Oshawa" squadron.

It was the second raid in two days in IJmuiden, a Netherlands coastal city.

Monday's heavy loss of aircraft, coupled with other recent announced losses indicated a tightening of Nazi defences against both night and day air raids.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Boulton received an official R.C.A.F. picture of their son Foss shaking hands with Lieutenant General A. G. L. McNicoll. The meeting took place during an inspection of the squadron personnel at the presentation of a Spitfire to the City of Oshawa Squadron.

Captain Jessup Killed at Coast Sunday Morning

MACLEOD, May 3 — Captain Ralph Campbell Jessup of the 24th Field Regiment, Royal Canadian Artillery was killed in a vehicle accident at Nanaimo, Sunday morning according to a telegram received here by his wife from the commanding officer of his unit.

Lieut. Richard Alston Scott, 22 Melville, Sask., was killed instantly when the army vehicle in which Capt. Jessup and he were riding, crashed off a bridge near Ladysmith, just south of Nanaimo.

Capt. Jessup died a few hours afterwards.

Full military funeral honors were planned for the officers.

Captain Jessup joined the active army early in 1940, relinquishing command of the 93rd Battery, R.C.A., Macleod, and went overseas in 1941. In 1942 he returned to Canada and with the exception of a short leave at his home has been stationed at the west coast since.

NEWSMASTER

On joining the active army, he leased The Macleod Gazette which he had purchased in 1931, to H. T. Halliwell, proprietor of The Coleman Journal. He is a past president of the Alberta division of the Canadian Weekly News papers Association, past president of the Macleod branch of the Canadian Legion, having served overseas in World War I, and was town councillor up to his leaving for service. He was a member of the Masonic order.

Lions Annual Drama Festival May 13

The Lions annual drama festival will be held on Thursday, May 13, with entries from Coleman and neighboring towns. The Lions shield was won last year by the local drama society.

Bellevue drama club, under the direction of Rev. W. Irwin, have been practicing for this event for many months and now have their play down to perfection.

The local club has been practicing for some time and with a number of the talented artists of last year in the cast their performance is anticipated with a great deal of interest.

To augment the program Mr. S. C. Short, program director, has secured a number of talented high school students who will entertain the audience with folk dancing, tumbling and several specialty numbers.

A full evening's entertainment is assured and a goodly crowd is expected to be in attendance.

LIONS INSPECT EAST KOOTENAY POWER PLANT

Following the supper meeting of Coleman Lions on Monday evening the members motored to East Kootenay Power Plant where Lion John Van Mastron, superintendent, took them on a tour of the plant. The tour was enjoyed immensely and all were loud in their praise of Mr. Van Mastron's hospitality.

RED CROSS DANCES DISCONTINUED

The Saturday evening dances in the Italian hall have been discontinued for the spring and summer months announced President Dutil on Wednesday morning. They will commence early in the Fall. It is understood that the Polish Society will engage Edle's orchestra for dances in their East Coleman hall on Saturday evenings.

Legion Subscribes $1,000 to Victory Loan

Executive Unanimous in Purchasing Bond at Saturday's Meeting.

At an executive meeting of Coleman branch of the Canadian Legion on Saturday it was unanimously agreed to invest $1,000 of the club's funds in a Victory bond.

The local War Finance committee received the purchase with keen satisfaction from the Legion club. To them it was an emphatic endorsement in support of the loan from men who had been through the throes of the last war and knew exactly what the local men now overseas and those in training in the Dominion must experience before victory is won.

This Legion purchase should be an inspiration to those who have not already purchased and to those who have purchased small bonds when their financial means could have allowed for a much greater purchase.

Ration Coupons Due Thursdays

OTTAWA.—Ration coupons for sugar, tea, or coffee, and butter, formerly valid on Saturdays will henceforth fall due on Thursdays, officials of the ration administration announce. In future coupons for sugar, tea or coffee will become valid two days before the dates printed on these coupons in ration book 2.

Thus, valid dates for ration coupons 5 and 6 for sugar, tea or coffee were changed this week from Saturday May 1, to Thursday April 29. There is no expiry date.

Butter coupon 8 became valid Thursday April 29 and coupon 9 will be valid Thursday May 6. Both will expire May 31. Butter coupons 6 and 7 also expire May 31.

Large Crowds Hear Major Hammond

A very fine crowd of people attended the meetings conducted by Major and Mrs. Hammond and their musical family in the I.O.O.F. hall here last week.

Major Hammond and his family proved to be a real inspiration and encouragement to all who had the privilege of hearing them.

The major spoke of his two previous appointments in Coleman in 1921 and 1923. "Even since I have been an officer," he said, "I have been thankful for my stay here in Coleman."

It is hoped that Major and Mrs. Hammond will be able to come to the Pass again for the opening of the new citadel on Main Street. The Army hopes to have opening meetings some time in June.

THEATRE NOTES

The comedy hit of the season appears at The Palace this week end when Hope, Crosby and Dorothy Lamour combine in the film "Road to Morocco." In addition to its refreshing comedy and superb acting there are a number of popular songs sung. In addition another of these up-to-the-minute news reels will be shown to take one to the various theatres of this world war.

Next Wednesday to Friday another picture of war and history in the making will be shown in "United We Stand." It is an important review of world events and very interesting. The second feature is entitled "The Body Disappears." It is a good comedy picture.

At Cole's Bellevue, this week-end will be shown "This Above All." It is a serious dramatic story starring Tyrone Power and Joan Fontaine and deals with the present war.

Lou Clary Leaves For Alaska Highway

Lou Clary, local taxi driver, left early Tuesday morning for Edmonton where he will take possession of one of Sam Saggoff's trucks and drive freight over the Alaska highway. He signed up with Mr. Saggoff to drive one of the latter's several trucks on the Alaska highway for an indefinite period.

Lou came to Coleman in 1927 and up to 1942 was an employee of McGillivray Creek company as their truck driver. Last year he took over the taxi business of Oliver Barringham who was called to the army. It is not known who will take over the taxi business to succeed him. E. Salvador has been engaged to transport the Sentinel and district school children to and from the local schools until a regular man is appointed for the job.

Lawn Work Should Be Early

Grass is a cool weather plant. Any work with lawns should be started just as quickly in the spring as possible. This does not mean that the soil should be worked while it is still wet. That sort of thing never helps in any kind of gardening. But once one can walk over the ground without getting shoes muddy, then the rake can be brought into play.

In both new lawns or in patching, the soil should be raked fine and level. Authorities advise sowing only the highest quality of seed mixtures, as thick as directions specify and, of course, when there is no wind blowing. To get even results it is best to make a double sowing, one across and one lengthwise. Small patches can be protected from the birds by brush.

Both new and old lawns benefit from rolling while the ground is still soft. Grass like any other plant, needs good soil and an annual application of fertilizer so that many weeds are crowded out. Color, too, benefits from fertilizer.

Local Red Cross Reaches $2,000 In Campaign

Cost Companies Gave Campaign Big Boost Which Resulted in Coleman Doubling Quota.

Announcement was made Tuesday afternoon by Secretary J. A. Park that the local Red Cross campaign had officially closed and that Coleman had reached the $2,000 mark, thereby doubling the allotted quota of $1,000 set by provincial headquarters.

The goal of $2,000 was only made possible by the splendid contribution of the two coal companies, stated Mr. Park, who was elated over the success of the campaign.

President Wilfrid Dutil takes this opportunity to thank all citizens for their much appreciated contributions and to his various committees who solicited at the mines, business houses and residences throughout the town and district.

Pythian Sisters Observed Mothers' Day

British Women Assist In Collection Of Herbs For Medicinal Purposes

In Britain many women's organizations, particularly Women's Institutes, aside from their regular war-time jobs, are assisting in the collection of herbs which may be used for medicinal purposes. These herbs are collected to take the place of those formerly imported from territories now under enemy control.

As well as herb collection, during the year 1941-1942, two hundred tons of rose hips were collected and made into vitamin-giving syrup for the use of Britain's youngest fry, the babies and children. In round figures this meant picking about 134,000,000 individual rose hips. These produced nearly 600,000 bottles of the syrup.

World Still Rolling

In Spite Of Prophecy Made Over Four Hundred Years Ago

In 1526 a French Jew by the name of Michel de Notre Dame or, as now commonly called, Nostradamus, penned one of his celebrated prophecies. He forecast that the world would come to an end when Good Friday fell on April 23, Easter on April 29, and the Feast of Corpus Christi on June 24. This year fulfilled these conditions! But another fact also stands clear. The same sequence occurred in the Year of Relative Grace 1886 and the world has kept on rolling without substantial let or hindrance during the intervening 57 years.

Wild Bird Life Said To Be Flying In Formation To Imitate Planes

Even the wild-life in the Aleutians had been militarized, according to Capt. Aaron Blewitt, of Cul De Sac, Idaho, company commander of a unit camped in a wild valley on the slopes of an Aleutian volcano.

"Since our arrival here," Captain Blewitt said, "the blue foxes have learned to stand in the chow line and the ravens are beginning to fly in military formations."

The men in Captain Blewitt's company support his assertions that the fat, playful, highly intelligent ravens imitate the manoeuvres of fighter planes based in the Aleutians. They maintain that the birds not only fly in echelons and peel off in attack dives but they also occasionally poke fun at the air corps by making extremely bumpy and unbirdlike landings.

"But the best stunt they have pulled off here," Captain Blewitt said, "was when they gave our terrible mascot a shelling. They circled over him in an echelon of echelons and came down one at a time, clawing the pup and whacking him so hard with their beaks that half the company had to knock off work to rescue him."

PETER AND JOHN LEADERS IN THE EARLY CHURCH

Golden text: Now when they beheld the boldness of Peter and John, and had perceived that they were unlearned and ignorant men, they marvelled; and they took knowledge of them, that they had been with Jesus. Acts 4:13.

Lesson: Acts 2:37-41; 3:1-8; 4:13, 18-22.

Devotional reading: Psalm 33:12-22.

Explanations and Comments

The Day of Pentecost, and the Amazement of Jews From Many Countries, Acts 2:1-13.

Peter's Sermon, Acts 2:14-36.

Peter's Exhortation and Result, Acts 2:37-41.

Peter's words about the Christ were convincing to his hearers, and his home thrust at their consciences—did, crucifixion and stoning—pricked their hearts, convicted them of their sin, and they cried, "Brethren, what shall we do?" How can we be freed from our guilt?

They must not only repent of their sins, but they must change their opinion of Jesus Christ, Peter told them: the one whom they had regarded as a false Christ, they must accept as the true Christ, and they must acknowledge this by being baptized, and then they would receive the gift of the Holy Spirit.

"For to you is the promise, and to your children," Peter further told them, "and to all that are afar off."

A footnote in the new Catholic Bible states that "to them that are afar off" meant the Gentiles, but Peter at this time had not had his vision of clean and unclean, and it seems more natural to refer the phrase to the Jews that were scattered at a distance.

His hearers heeded his words, and there were added unto them in that day about three thousand souls.

Peter Heals a Lame Man at the Door of the Temple, Acts 3:1-8.

Nine in the morning and three in the afternoon, when Peter and John went one day to the temple to pray. At the door of the temple called Beautiful they saw a man sitting and begging alms of all worshippers. The man had been lame from birth, and as he was daily carried to that spot to beg, he must have been well known to all in Jerusalem. "He was part of the city landscape, the people knew him as they knew the carved columns of the temple doorway."

The man was not expecting alms from every worshipper, and probably glanced indifferently at Peter and John. To rivet his attention upon them and arouse his expectations, Peter said to him, "Look on us."

Then the beggar gave heed to them, doubtless expecting to receive a few coins. But Peter said to him, "Silver and gold have I none; but what I have, that give I thee. In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, walk."

Immediately the man's feet and ankle-bones received strength; he leaped up and began to walk, and entered the temple with the apostles, all the time lauding and praising God.

Oranges have long been known for their Vitamin C content. Research workers now tell us that red currant juice has just as much of this vitamin, and black currant juice has twice as much. 2514

In The Desert Too

Keeping perfectly groomed in the desert is a difficult task, but driver James Allen, a member of the British Eighth Army, was more than successful. He raised a moustache with the longest span in the army. It reaches seven full inches from tip to tip.

War-time Meals

How To Overcome Shortages And Rationing Of Food

Adequate war-time meals can be prepared in spite of shortages and rationing of food.

The dietetic study points out that with a plentiful supply of cereal foods and a fair supply of milk, potatoes and vegetables, the average family can maintain a vigorous diet, even if further cuts in rationed foods become necessary.

Here are some ways nutrition experts suggest to vary war-time menus:

Use muffins, Johnny-cake and other quick breads in place of standard dark and enriched white breads.

For breakfast, alternate cooked cereals with ready-cooked package cereals.

Serve a tray of attractive sandwiches for lunch or dinner.

"Stretch" meat and fish croquettes, meat loaves, hash and stews with bread crumbs, oatmeal, soy flour.

Dress up toast with ginger, nutmeg, cinnamon or honey and syrup.

Fill out your meals with bread puddings, rice puddings and cereal "brown betty."

Work milk and cottage cheese into as many of your dishes as you can.

PECULIAR PALM TREE

The praying palm of Faridpore, India, bowed down each evening as the temple bells were calling the people to prayer. It was later found that temperature was responsible for the peculiar actions of the tree.

Bread baked on Christmas never becomes stale, according to an old superstition.

PATTERN FOR DISASTER

CHAPTER I

THE dining room was beginning to thin out when Chris Morgan, dawdling over a leisurely meal, finally made up his mind. He had carried out the assignment in Buenos Aires, the mission had been a shot in the dark that had found no mark. The only thing left for him to do was to return to the United States and report a complete lack of results to his superiors.

Another man, who also had just finished eating, stepped to the desk ahead of Morgan, and the American waited while the other man paid his bill. De Nova, the manager of the Casa Grande, was serving as cashier, and he turned smilingly to Morgan as soon as he was free.

"I'm checking out tomorrow," said Morgan. "Have my bill ready and I'll settle up in the morning."

Abruptly Morgan turned around. While he had been speaking to De Nova the other customer had been moving toward the exit and he had crossed the floor there was about him something vaguely familiar that caught Morgan's attention.

Chris Morgan grinned to himself, then shrugged. He was quite a detective! The man was an utter stranger. That was what weeks of snooping did to a fellow: made him suspicious of everything and everyone.

"Yes, I am leaving in the morning," Morgan said. De Nova once again he was conscious that his brows were knitting, puzzledly. The tantalizing sense of familiarity would not let him go. In his mind's eye he saw the departed man once more, the well-built figure with the slightly rolling gait.

Morgan's head jerked for the second time. That was it! The man had the walk of a sailor and it was that walk that had evoked a sense of recognition within Lt. Christopher Morgan of the U.S. Navy. Was this a straw in the wind—a clue turning up at the very moment Morgan was preparing to abandon his quest?

ALREADY the fellow was gone—out to the street. "Excuse me, señor," Morgan interrupted De Nova. "I've got to see a man about a dog." Then he turned away from the desk and ran toward the street door. It would be just his luck for the man with the sea swag to have vanished by the time Morgan got outside.

He sidestepped a waiter without slackening speed. But going through the doorway his haste was such that he was unable to avoid a collision with a man on the point of entering the hotel.

The shoulders of the two men struck, but since it was Morgan who was moving the faster, the other man was bumped aside, to strike in turn against the woman who was accompanying him.

"I beg your pardon," said Morgan, without pausing. The man he was seeking was up ahead, almost at the street corner. A curse in Spanish fell on Morgan's ear, and he halted, realizing that he had been made rude to the couple in the doorway; that the young woman had been bowled over completely.

The man, helping the girl to arise, paused to shake a fist at Morgan. With sudden dismay, the American realized that the man he had jostled, was Colonel Miguel Velasquez y Cuyas and that the girl was Senorita Rosita, the colonel's niece. Intent on apologizing for his rudeness, he did an about-face and had taken one step back toward the hotel door when the man with the sailor's walk rounded the distant corner and passed out of sight.

The senorita, on her feet now, was being escorted into the hotel lobby. As though freeing himself from a vise, Morgan turned his back on the Casa Grande and hurried toward the street intersection. His own personal desires had to be sacrificed under the stern demands of duty.

STARTING IN THIS ISSUE A New Thrilling Serial Story

Of International Secret Service, where Lt. Chris Morgan of Naval Intelligence, found himself with a job on his hands when he tried to crack a U-boat directive centre in South America. It was a job that called for astuteness, but that quality characterized his opponents more than him until the very last round.

to carry no papers that would reveal his identity in such a case as this.

He must have been unconcerned for some little time, for the crowded lobby of the Casa Grande was practically deserted when he returned to the hostelry. One of the first persons he met was De Nova, the manager.

"You found the man with the dog, señor?"

Morgan grinned. "False alarm. By the way, De Nova, I've changed my mind about leaving Buenos Aires. Just forget what I said about making up my bill."

A girl moved across the lobby in the direction of the elevator. Senorita Velasquez, the girl Morgan had upset in the doorway. Before the girl could step into the elevator, Morgan was at her side.

Even then she did not see him, and he was forced to touch her elbow. "Senorita," he said, clearing his throat.

She favored him with the blank stare only a South American lady can turn on a presumptuous stranger. "Do I know you, señor?"

"No," he said. "You see—I am stammering. I am the fellow who bumped into you and your uncle—"

"Oh," she said, and a flush crept into her face. "Isn't it a trifle late to appear with your apologies, señor? You ran halfway down the street, then stopped to watch while others were compelled to help me up."

"Senorita—I—I was in a hurry—I did not have time—"

"Americano?" She had completed her survey of his features. "That explains everything. I presume the Americans then, knock a lady out of their paths when they are in their everlasting hurry to get somewhere?"

A short stocky man appeared beside the couple at the elevator and the girl hurried to him. "I have been waiting, Uncle Miguel," she said as she slipped her hand through his arm. Together they moved off to the elevator, and disappeared.

Care Of The Piano

Pianos, Both Old And New Are Worthy Of Attention

With pleasure driving out, homes in town and country are coming into their own once more. The focal point of each living room and a source of entertainment is the piano. Old or new, large or small, it is worthy of the best possible care.

Piano experts say that a piano should not be placed near an open window or radiator. Swelling of the sounding board and rusting of nickel parts may occur.

From time to time it is advisable to clean the sounding board by inserting a soft dry cloth under the strings.

Moths have no love for music for without a thought they will damage the felts on the hammers. If the house is moth infested or during a period of storage, small bags of camphor suspended inside the piano will offer protection against the pests.

Keys can be cleaned with a cloth dampened very slightly with water, and wiped with a dry cloth. Some "piano lovers" prefer to use a little kerosene instead of water on the principle that it prevents the ivory from yellowing.

Cosmic Rays

Russian Expedition Has Made Valuable Contribution To Science

An expedition of the Institute of Physics of the Academy of Sciences of the USSR has returned to Moscow from the mountain peaks of the Eastern Pamirs, where a study has been made of the chemical and physical properties of cosmic rays.

For six months, at altitudes of five to six kilometers above sea level, the expedition studied the effect of cosmic rays on the splitting of the atomic nucleus. Experiments revealed that the splitting is effected by cosmic particles with an absolutely small amplitude of oscillation closely adjoining the ultra-violet part of the spectrum.—USSR Bulletin.

Makes Model Aircraft

Montreal Man Too Old To Fly Doing Valuable Work

Keenly interested in planes but too old to fly, Ernest Boucher, 43, is providing the R.C.A.F. with model aircraft.

Hearing of the need for 50,000 model planes, he bought himself a model-building kit. His first plane, a Vought Sikorsky Vindicator, was delivered to air force headquarters at Montreal and he obtained plans for a Blohm and Voss 142. Five weeks later he returned with his second completed model, accurately constructed to scale. Then he got plans for a Jap Model and turned that in. He is now busy on a model aircraft carrier.

Occupied Europe

Property Valued At Billions Of Dollars Taken By Nazis

German looting of Occupied Europe was pictured by the U.S. board of economic warfare as surpassing in "magnitude and ruthlessness" all previous conquests of history.

The board estimated Germany had plundered $36,000,000,000 by the end of 1941 and the rate since is accelerating into "tens of billions of dollars per year." It added: "Not only has wealth, accumulated over centuries, been carried back to Germany, but the industries, natural resources, and labor power of the occupied countries are under absolute German domination."

Its reports, the board said, show that armaments and other military equipment have been taken from all the vanquished armies of Europe. "Thousands of machines have been dismantled and moved to Germany, with laboratory and scientific equipment from the greatest institutes in Europe," the board reported. "Horses, cattle, sheep, pigs and fats have been confiscated, public galleries and private collections stripped of art objects, and office furniture, park benches, and garden tools taken."

Describing Poland as the outstanding example of confiscation of public property, the board estimated the loot there at $2,900,000,000.

Military equipment from Austria and Czechoslovakia was treasured to southeastern European countries for foodstuffs and raw materials, the report said, but was recovered later when Germany invaded those countries.

Are Good Fighters

Valor Of Indian Soldiers In Egypt Praised By Churchill

Prime Minister Winston Churchill praised the valor of Indian soldiers everywhere in a message to the Viceroy of India, Lord Linlithgow. "We watched with admiration the splendid achievement of the Fourth Indian Division at the battle of Mareth and in the recent victory at Wadi Akarit," the message said. The Fourth Indian Division first went into action in Egypt in December, 1940. By the middle of last February it was reported to have suffered 15,000 casualties, but to have captured 100,000 German and Italian prisoners.

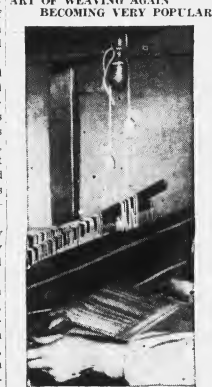

SELECTED RECIPES

ALL-BRAN SUGARLESS MUFFINS

2 tablespoons shortening
1 cup sugar*
1 egg
1 cup All-Brn
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
Blend shortening and sugar thoroughly; add egg and beat well. Stir in All-Brn and milk; let soak until most of moisture is taken up. Sift flour with salt and baking powder; add to first mixture and stir only until flour disappears. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full and bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 30 minutes.
Yield: 8 large muffins (3 inches in diameter) or 12 small muffins (2 1/2 inches in diameter).
*Note: 1/2 cup syrup may be used instead of sugar if milk is reduced to 1/4 cup.

HOME SERVICE

ART OF WEAVING AGAIN BECOMING VERY POPULAR

Weaving Excellent Hobby

A useful hobby which can easily develop into a profession is that of weaving. Especially in wartime you will find that weaving your own materials is most practical.

The conventional threads used in weaving are wool, cotton, silk and linen but many other materials can be used as the weaving processes describe in our 32-page booklet.

Feminine fingers are rediscovering weaving as a pleasant and useful pastime. Not so many years ago it was a necessary skill in our grandmothers' homes. Years have passed and women are again weaving, mainly because of wartime exigencies. There's an artist in every woman. That is why weaving is diversion of a superior sort.

There are dozens of attractive and useful items you can make, many of them from scraps.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of "How To Weave Useful Novelties" to Home Service Dept., Winnipeg News-Paper Union, 175 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg, Man. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.
